Candles, based on paraffin, stearin and ceresin, are coated with a wax mixture which has a higher ceresin content (and hence a higher m.p. by 10-20 degrees C) than the basic blend.

- This prevents wax dripping over long burning periods.
- for decorative purposes, the outer coating may be applied using wax particles and a lacquer based on carbinol, copal, polyvinylbutyral and polyvinylacetate.
